Matthew E. Henoch focuses his practice in estate planning and probate litigation.

He is experienced in all aspects of estate planning, including income tax, estate tax, gift tax, generation-skipping transfer tax, charitable planning, business succession planning, drafting of wills, trust agreements and powers of attorney.

Matt also represents estates, trusts and beneficiaries in probate litigation. He has represented clients in multimillion-dollar probate litigation involving claims of undue influence, lack of mental capacity and breach of fiduciary duties. He also has represented closely-held family businesses in litigation and arbitration matters.
