As an associate in Hahn Loeser's Litigation Practice Area, Meredith A. McBride represents clients in eminent domain and complex commercial litigation. Within her litigation practice, Meredith has developed a specialized knowledge of eminent domain law. Meredith leverages her knowledge of government and construction regulations to guide clients through eminent domain proceedings, from the initial acquisition phase through litigation. She also has experience filing land development permit extension requests and zoning applications.

Meredith is involved in cases through all stages of litigation, including legal research and drafting pleadings, motions and discovery. She also has experience drafting and negotiating settlement agreements.
